booksQ: How do you "side-load" in Clash of Clans? How do you "side-load" in Clash of Clans? I've heard this term thrown around a few times, and I just want to know what it is. A: The term you are referring to is "Sharing", and I believe you have misunderstood the term "Side-Load". The term "Sharing" refers to the fact that you can share your games with others that are not on the same platform you are using (the Clash of Clans App for iOS, Android, or Windows Phone). Sharing can be done at any time, and may be done by you or by others. With "Side-Loading", you are referring to using certain games from other developers. You are able to download other games as they become available. The process to do this is pretty straightforward and I will describe it here: Log into the game using your Google Account Select the "My Games" tab on the bottom Select the download option that is available It should automatically download the game, and open in your default App/Browser Some of the most popular Apps that are available on this site are Multiplayer, "Clash of Clans", "Game of War: Fire Age", "Asphalt 8: Airborne", and "Subway Surfer". Q: Codeigniter: how to save and display different types of data (from database) I have a table named "tbl_relation" that has column "cid_a" and "cid_b". cid_a and cid_b are setted by default to NULL. I want to load the information in those columns from database. What i tried to do is: In my view, i load the information from a function in model:
public function load_all_data() {
