The index is on a column which is the MIN(a, b). Is there any way I can make sure that the selectivity of the view is greater than that of the query?
SELECT * FROM view v WHERE v.a = (SELECT MIN(a, b) FROM view); A: SELECT * FROM view v WHERE v.a = (SELECT MIN(a, b) FROM view) AND v.a > (SELECT MIN(a, b) FROM view); [Protective Effect of Anethum graveolens Root Extract on Intestinal Epithelial Cells in Sepsis Rat]. To study the protective effect of anethum graveolens root extract (AGRE) on intestinal epithelial cells (IECs) in sepsis rat. Sepsis was induced by cecal ligation and puncture (CLP) in rats, and were given AGRE or ciprofloxacin for 3 consecutive days. Blood was collected for detection of the levels of TNF- α , IL-6, and IL-1 β ; and the expression of PPAR γ and NF- κ B in the intestine was determined by Western blot. The activity of PPAR γ was detected by reporter gene assay. Compared with CLP group, AGRE and ciprofloxacin could significantly inhibit the release of TNF- α , IL-6 and IL-1 β and the expression of PPAR γ in the intestine of sepsis rat, and had no obvious effect on the NF- κ B activity in the intestine. In addition, AGRE could significantly increase the activity of PPAR γ by promoting the phosphorylation of PPAR γ , which was similar to the effect of ciprofloxacin. AGRE has a significant protective effect on intestinal IECs in sepsis rats, which may be associated with the activation of PPAR γ .If your mattress is softer than a cloud and you are tossing and turning at night, you might want to consider a memory foam mattress. For example, how would I debug this code to make it more efficient (and easy to debug): // Test(T[] data) {...} void main() { var a = new[] { 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 }; var b = new[] { 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 }; var c = new[] { 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 }; var result = Test(a); var result2 = Test(b); var result3 = Test(c); } To make it look like this: // Test(T[] data) {...} void main() { var a = new[] { 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 }; 2d92ce491b
