Keyboard Locker is a small, but powerful utility to safeguard your private data and protect you from illegal access. It comes in handy for multiple reasons: You can prevent children from using your computer by locking the keyboard. Additionally, you can clean the keyboard when you don't need it anymore. This way, you don't have to turn off the computer. You can save the keystrokes and shortcuts that are frequently used, making the computer start up faster. Its small size and portability make it easy to install and uninstall. For emergencies, a key combination to reboot the computer is active. On the other hand, the keyboard is unlocked whenever you want to remove the utility. Two installation methods are available: Using an executable file to run the application. Save the Keyboard Locker executable to a USB flash disk. Usage: When you start the application for the first time, you are prompted to add a password. If you don't do this, Keyboard Locker simply displays a warning message and its icon in the system tray area. The configuration is saved on the hard drive. After adding the master password, you can start typing as normal. Removing Keyboard Locker is as easy as running it: right-click its icon, choose Properties, and click the Uninstall button. ### What's New In?

Keyboard Locker is a very small and portable piece of kit whose sole purpose is to lock your keyboard, preventing you or other people from accessing it. It comes in handy for multiple reasons. For once, you can prevent unauthorized users (especially the younger audience) from accessing your sensitive data with the help of the keyboard. Secondly, you can lock it whenever you want to clean the keyboard without turning off the computer. As installation is not a prerequisite, it is suffice to drop the executable file anywhere on the hard drive and run it. On the other hand, you can save Keyboard Locker to a USB flash disk or other similar device, so you can run it on any computer seamlessly. What's important to keep in mind is that portable apps do not work with the Windows Registry, thus preserving the integrity of critical entries. Plus, they do not leave files behind on the hard drive after removal. At startup, Keyboard Locker creates an icon in the system tray area, from where you can toggle the keyboard lock status with the simple click of a button. The only functional key combination is Ctrl + Alt + Del, for emergencies (in case the mouse becomes unresponsive and you need to reboot the system, for example). Unfortunately, Keyboard Locker does not integrate an option to assign a master password. However, it barely uses CPU and system memory, hence it doesn't affect the computer's overall performance. No error dialogs have been shown in our tests and the utility did not hang or crash. While taking into account that Keyboard Locker has not been updated for a very long time and that its functionality is quite limited, the utility performs its job on the fly, which is surely appreciated by users.
