high extent. It can not only record but also play back the recorded keyboard shortcuts. KEYMACRO can be used on both PCs and laptops, and Macs. KEYMACRO is not just for keyboard shortcuts, it can record other operations, such as starting the iTunes application or the Command Prompt. If you record the "Alt + S" Windows key sequence, you can start iTunes from the command line in a pinch. KEYMACRO also records mouse clicks as keyboard shortcuts so it is especially useful for Mac users as well as those who use Windows-only computers.

KeyMacro Windows App: You can use the KeyMacro software to make simple mouse clicks, with just a click. And it can be used to launch the windows calculator, Word, or web browsers.

KeyMacro Linux App: KeyMacro for Linux is a powerful alternative for Windows and Mac OS X. KeyMacro for Linux is based on the KEYMACRO for Windows and Mac OS X.

KeyMacro Features:

1. Record mouse clicks into keyboard shortcuts
2. Take a screenshot with F12
3. Playback the keyboard shortcuts
4. Record keyboard shortcuts that open a window, either using a shortcut or a mouse click
5. Playback the keyboard shortcuts when selected
6. Record mouse clicks as keyboard shortcuts
7. You can also use it to play back previously recorded keyboard shortcuts
8. Support for multiple languages
9. Support for hotkeys
10. Full-screen mode

Q: Facebook Connect: Can I integrate Facebook Connect without logging in to Facebook? I'd like to develop a website which is going to be used only by my company, which I'm going to be the only user. The purpose of this site is not to advertise or get feedback from the public. I know how to use Facebook Connect: I just have no idea if it is possible to not have the user have to log in to Facebook at all. They just go to a page with my site's URL in it and they're done. Can this be done?

A: You should just make a standard login form (anonymous) in your site and use Facebook's code. Facebook will process the user's Facebook account as usual. This way, the user will not be aware that you need to register him/her and you can keep the user base within your own company. I personally think the changes were a little to drastic, but I love the fact that it is almost reminiscent of the Xbox 360's dashboard. The ability to drag-n-drop is a big step in the right direction, but in-game context menu just feels wrong. Banned I know it's a bit early, but I gotta ask....how will the scroll wheel work with the touch pad? Because you really don't need the buttons for navigation, but I just noticed that the option is there if you need it. I personally just hope that there is a way to remap the buttons for a "mouse" style. Banned I
