Create customizable floating notes on your desktop in an interactive fashion. NoteRush is a reliable and efficient application that allows you to create floating notes on your desktop in an interactive fashion. Creative, yet organized interface The way the notes are disposed and accessed surely prove the uniqueness of NoteRush, when it comes to the aesthetic aspect. The layout is actually a structure of multiple notes, disposed in a tree-like shape, allowing you to easily create a complex network of notes. Generate customizable notes In order to easily remember and differentiate between various notes, you are given the choice to pick between various themes and colors for each document. Not only you can choose the theme for the note, but you can also edit your text by using various options, such as underlying the words, increasing and decreasing the font, coloring them in order to stand out, editing the page layout and so on. Another customization feature you can access in order to personalize your notes is the capability to choose between various colored icons and for each document. With so many customizations you can bring to your notes, it is easy to make the most important ones stand out from the entire structure. Easily move around, copy or delete notes The application allows you to drag each note and drop it to its new location, or you can only copy it without moving the original. You can retract the notes to their parent-document, in order to avoid cluttering the desktop with a complicated structure. Also, the utility allows you to pin the most important notes to your desktop, where it will be displayed in a faded manner, until you mouse over it. An interactive floating note system for your desktop NoteRush proves to be a creative, yet reliable and comprehensible application that comes in quite handy to those who need a unique manner of displaying important notes on their desktops. Huawei P20 Pro camera review: looks great, sounds great, might be a good camera Huawei's P20 Pro is a new phone from the company and it's a fairly ambitious attempt to better its best-selling P20. It's got a high resolution display, a faster processor, a camera that can record 4K footage and be mounted on a wall and it has a headphone jack. So does it have all that it needs to be good? Huawei P20 Pro 2018 press images The P20 Pro, along with the regular P20, debuted as a concept phone on 12 May 2017.
