Over the past year the animals of South Korea have suffered more than any other country in the world, with the exception of China. The consequences for the world economy have been catastrophic. On average, there is now a 10-bagger-a-day of stock market crash as investors flee the markets in an attempt to avoid the deaths of trillions of stock holdings. Over the past week South Korea witnessed the worst government-run corruption scandal in its history as the arrested former president and his economic policy advisor were revealed to have taken in $60 billion from the country's pension funds, and used it to bribe politicians around the world, including Donald Trump. The former president is now facing treason charges. South Korea's population, which was 78 million people in 2010, has now shrunk to a mere 51 million people due to the mass numbers of deaths that have occurred over the past year. While the cause of the coronavirus is still unknown, it is clear that the virus could not have been contained within China alone. What is also clear is that the virus has already caused far more damage than the worst case scenario that is being heard now. South Korea's b7e8fdf5c8
