I can recommend it without second thought. ~~~ kvnn I don't think that's their point. GNOME 3 seems to have a serious style issue, and has been through several updates where the defaults are changing. I'm not sure the community understands this situation.

The present invention relates generally to automatic packing machines and, more particularly, to a self-contained packing machine which is simple in structure, compact in size, and economical to manufacture.

Automatic packing machines have been used for long periods of time by numerous manufacturers of ice cream, milk and other food products. A wide variety of designs have been proposed over the years to enable an operator to insert a liquid food product into a container, to close the container, and to pump the liquid food product into the container. Although many of the prior art machines are quite effective in performing their intended functions, they suffer from the disadvantage that many parts of the machine must be assembled at the factory and cannot be readily and easily assembled on site by an operator. Also, the prior art machines are quite complex and expensive to manufacture. he thinks is an increase in women joining the Paramedic Community. He starts relating a conversation
