Download r2r omnisphere 2 patch keygen for.Q: showing all days in a month I'm currently developing some code where it shows you all days of the month (obviously)

```
$day_array = array(); $day = date('m/d/Y'); while ($db->next_record()){ if($day == date('m/d/Y')){ $day_array[] = date('d/m/Y', strtotime($day)); } }
```

It basically goes through the database, and when you find a month that is the current month (using the date command) it sends out all the days of that month and creates a new array of all those days. So I basically want it to do this for any month A: You are missing date('M', strtotime($day)) - that will give you the month of the "current" date, and then you can easily test to make sure its the same as the month you want (though I would suggest reading the docs on strtotime, it can do a lot of really cool things). I would also suggest changing your loop to while ($db->next_record()) {, as you shouldn't be doing any logic in the while loop and all that code will spill out anyway. next_record() { if($month == date('m', strtotime($day)) && $year == date('Y', strtotime($day)))}
